YES, LET HIM GO.

A subscriber sends the Herald the following editorial clipped from the Denver Post, and says it reads good to him:

An East Orange (N. J.) man advertises his estate for sale, declaring he intends to live in Europe—because Democrats won the election, and he wants to await on foreign shores the return of republicanism.

Fine! Let him go—and all the rest of his kind.

It is regrettable that he withholds his name. The country would like to take a large sponge, well sopped in black ink, and swab his name off the nation's directory.

When an American cannot accept the returns of a free election by a free people; cannot abide by the result of the ballots—feels he must go because things are not his way—then he ceases to be an American—had better be gone!

But this unknown threatens to return when republicanism "comes back."

And thus must we continue to dread a victory for the G. O. P.

It may bring the expatriated one back. We do not want him!

But this fellow who would hike it to Europe until the republicans come into power again has a great many imitators all over the country. Some of this kind of people are high here in Palestine; they are the fellows who will not take hold of any enterprise unless they can be the whole show and have all the say. But the country has always survived the withdrawal of such people and always will. Yes, let him go, and go in company.

Good services are held in all of the Palestine churches, and all men can find a welcome and an interest if they will attend services.

An exchange says the first duty of the democrats is to reduce the tariff. Some mistake? There is an idea prevalent that the first duty is to hand out the jobs.

The promise is made that Governor-elect Colquitt will make his announcements shortly, and then the agony will be over. He will have no trouble in getting enough men to fill all the places.

The San Antonio Light says the country should be thankful for the Indian summer which the government has given the Indians. To be sure, but what about all this winter clothing that the rest of us have taken on?

Sherlock Holmes, Jr., has some good reading in this issue of the Herald. He writes some good stories, and promises to furnish fun for the whole community for several days. Nothing in this contest goes except what he writes over his own name.

The business people of Palestine can make the Herald a better paper right along by increasing the patronage. There are a host of business concerns in this good old town who do not spend a dollar with the paper for advertising who still expect the paper to preach home patronage and boom the town. The Herald is for Palestine first and all the time, but the rule should work both ways.

Those Brazilian sailors are reformers of the first magnitude. They made up their minds as to what they wanted, and after disposing of their officers trained their guns on the capital city, fired a few shot over, and sent word to the general assembly that they wanted their rights fixed up right away and sent out, or they would shell the city. After hurried deliberations the assembly decided that the sailors were right, and deserved what they wanted. And then came peace.

Governor Stubbs of Kansas, in speaking before the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress at San Antonio, declared he had not much tolerance for the Sherman anti-trust law, but rather favored a six line law so clear-cut that there could be no hanging up on technicalities, and under which the man or men who violated the principle involved could be sent to jail. The Kansas governor thinks the big monopolies should be placed on the same plane with the little offender who can be handled without so much red tape. And the convention applauded his remarks very warmly.

Tomorrow is the last Sunday Rev. James Kilgore, pastor of the Centenary Methodist church, will preach in Palestine as pastor of that church. Rev. Kilgore has rounded out his full four years as pastor of the Centenary church, and they have been busy years and profitable years to the church, spiritually and physically. Besides his pastoral work, Rev. Kilgore has started and carried forward the work of building a new and magnificent church building, nearing completion, and which will in the years to come stand as a monument to his consecration and ability. That he has friends by the score need not be recited. And these friends will wish him the best of good fortune in his future work.

The old, old story, told times without number, and repeated over and over again for the last thirty-six years, but it is always a welcome story to those in search of health. There is nothing in the world that cures coughs and colds as quickly as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Sold by Bratton Drug Co.

SCRIPTURE.

Psalm 100.

Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands.

Serve the Lord with gladness; come before His presence with singing.

Know ye that the Lord he is God; it is He that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are His people, and the sheep of His pasture.

Enter into His gates with thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise; be thankful unto Him, and bless His name.

For the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting; and His truth endureth to all generations.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

Published By Authority of the Secretary of Agriculture.

For Palestine and vicinity until 7 p. m. Sunday: Tonight and Sunday unsettled weather; showers tonight or Sunday; colder Sunday.

Temperature: Lowest last night, 68; highest yesterday, 77.

Weather Conditions.

A disturbance of considerable energy overlies the St. Lawrence valley and the North Atlantic states. It has caused snow in northern New England and rain in the eastern lake region, Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania. Another storm dominates weather conditions from the eastern Plateau district to the Mississippi valley. Showers have occurred in the Pacific states, the Plateau section and Kansas. It is colder in most of the states west of the Rockies and somewhat warmer throughout the greater portion of the Mississippi valley. Unsettled weather is indicated for this vicinity tonight and Sunday, with showers to night or Sunday and colder weather Sunday.

AT THE LYRIC.

Brotherhood of Railway Blacksmiths Will Give Special Program.

The management says:

Courtney & Jeanette, the vaudeville team at the New Lyric Theater, continue to draw large crowds. The theater was crowded again last night.

Tonight a special program will be run for the benefit of the Brotherhood of Railway Blacksmiths and Helpers. In addition to the regular vaudeville team of Courtney & Jeanette, three other special local numbers will appear on the bill, and by special arrangement Mr. Henry Roquemore, late of the Albert Taylor Stock Co., who is on a visit to his parents in this city, will render some high-class ballads. Mr. Roquemore is very popular in this city, and no doubt his friends will all be delighted to have the opportunity of hearing him sing again during his short sojourn in the city.

Two excellent subjects in motion pictures have been selected by the management for projection on tonight's program. The first to be exhibited is one of those high art Vitagraph subjects, "The Sepoy's Wife," an inimitable life portrayal that bears the stamp of individuality in dramatic acumen. While it has a locally historical value it is broad and general in its significance. This picture gets away from the hackneyed, and includes the go and stir that makes a great play. The other picture is one that will prove a treat to the children, "Alice in Wonderland." The picture is full of the spirit of childhood, and yet attractive enough and novel enough to interest the older people.

Piano Tuning.

I have done as much work the past summer as I wanted to. In fact, I have had to keep my tuning fork on ice to keep it from melting, but it is getting some cooler now, and if any of my old customers want their pianos tuned or any new customers will trust me with their work, I will be glad to do it. I guarantee my work and will give entire satisfaction or money refunded. I have a limited time in Palestine to do this work, and have no time to solicit, so if you want me to do your work just drop me a card or leave orders with W. H. Kingsbury or W. E. Swift and I will give the matter prompt attention.

Yours for good, honest work,
H. M. Jones.

TO TRY GIRL FOR MURDER

Hattie Le Blanc, Aged Seventeen, Is Charged With Murder of Waltham, Mass., Laundryman.

(Herald Special.)

Boston, Mass., Nov. 26.—Mysteries of an unusual character remain to be solved in the case of Clarence W. Glover, a Waltham laundryman, for whose death Hattie Le Blanc, a 17-year-old girl, will be placed on trial Monday in the Middlesex county court in East Cambridge.

The killing of Glover occurred in his laundry in Waltham on November 20, 1909. In the evening on that date he was shot in his laundry under circumstances shrouded in mystery. The wounded man succeeded in crawling to the house of a physician a short distance away and died soon after he had succeeded in summoning the persons in the house by ringing the bell. Just before he expired he is alleged to have declared that he had been shot by Hattie Le Blanc, who is said to have been seen with him some hours previously near the laundry.

So far as can be learned the police have been totally unable to fix any adequate motive for the killing so far as the Le Blanc girl is concerned, despite the statements of the dying man that it was she who fired the fatal shot. Rumors that some member of the dead man's family was closely concerned in the tragedy and that there would be other indictments for the murder have been given wide circulation, but apparently nothing has developed to substantiate these reports.

The Le Blanc girl is a French-Canadian, who came from West Arichat, Nova Scotia, to accept employment as a domestic in the Glover home. Her acquaintance with English was very slight and she was known as a quiet, modest girl who bore an excellent reputation. During the year that she has been confined in jail she has won many friends and a large amount of public sympathy. From the time of her arrest she has steadfastly refused to make any statement concerning the killing of Glover. George P. Kyte, a member of the Dominion parliament, is among those who have interested themselves in the girl's case and it is understood he will endeavor to enlist the aid of the Canadian government in her defense.

What is considered one of the remarkable features of the case is the fact that Hattie Le Blanc hid herself in the Glover house for three days and nights after the shooting. Mrs. Lillian Marie Glover, widow of the dead man, declared that the presence of the girl in the house was unknown to her.

The Jury Returns Unanimous Verdict.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

A jury consisting of some of the most distinguished chemists of America has returned an unanimous verdict of "not guilty" in the case of Knicker et al vs. Coca-Cola. It will be remembered that some time ago a report was circulated to the effect that Coca-Cola contained injurious materials and was, therefore, harmful in its effect upon the human body.

The rumor was originated by an unscrupulous competitor of Coca-Cola, the popular temperance drink, spread rapidly and found some credence among those who did not know the origin of the report.

The jury finds that not only does Coca-Cola contain nothing harmful, but that it is much superior to tea and coffee in that it is free from tannic acid and, therefore, promotes digestion instead of retarding it. Each of the distinguished chemists reported that he had made a careful chemical analysis of Coca-Cola and found it to contain no "dope" of any kind. If you would like to see copies of these letters, write to the Coca-Cola Co., Atlanta, Ga., for a free copy of a booklet entitled "The Truth About Coca-Cola." The jury was as follows:

1. Jno. M. McCandless, State Chemist of Georgia.
2. B. B. Ross, State Chemist of Alabama.
3. Dr. A. L. Metz of Tulane University.
4. Prof. W. B. Burney of South Carolina College.
5. Prof. C. H. Palm of the University of Texas.
6. Dr. Wm. H. Toyloe, State Chemist of Virginia.
7. Dr. Louis Schaefer, Prest, Schaefer Alkaloid Works, Maywood, N. J.
8. Prof. Emerson R. Miller of Ala. Polytechnic Institute.
9. Dr. J. C. Mims, Chemist of the Board of Health, New Orleans.

MAN OF MYSTERY GROWING POETICALLY

Sits Down on Baby.--Will Visit the Mayor. Describes Pretty Girls and Has a Good Time Generally.

"Ha-ha," she cried, in accents wild And waved her paper high. I crossed my fingers, stepped aside And passed the lady by.

That is all there is to it. That little tragedy was enacted last evening on Magnolia street. Poor girl, she didn't know that the time was not ripe to win the money, and when I told her about it, woman like, she just said "Oh pshaw," and walked on. Just to get the ball whizzing as quickly as possible, I am going to take a little flyer down to the Lyric Theater tonight and see what's doing. They had a dandy program down there Thanksgiving day and I was Johnnie-on-the-Spot. No, I am not going to tell you the time I expect to enter the Lyric—too early in the game, friend of mine—but I shall be there just the same tonight.

I am going to steal a cat. That is if they ever take the rope off of it. The aforesaid cat resides at 101 Magnolia street, and if they don't take the rope off, then I steal the rope and if it has a cat tied to the end of it, that is not my fault.

Will Get Pin.

I am going to get a scarf pin from the progressive Copeland Jewelry company. This scarf pin I intend to wear during the entire contest. A duplicate of this pin will be kept in this jewelry store, and if you care to see it it will be there for your inspection. I will tell you through these columns Monday exactly when it will be on hand for your inspection. This will make one of the best tips of the entire contest.

I never played with Solomon's little dog, nor have I ever eaten crumbs from the table of one T. Roosevelt, consequently I am not Willie Wise, but take it from me, no matter where you send your boy or girl—no matter how much you spend on a college education for them—neglect to give them a business education and you are neglecting to equip them properly for the battle of life. Right here in Palestine you have a business college, presided over by a man who has had thirty years' business experience covering a wide field, and if you want to make a Christmas present that will be remembered practically for all time, take out a scholarship for your boy or girl in this splendid institution and start them on the road that will perhaps save them from everlasting drudgery, and that may incidentally be the means of keeping the wolf from the door.

Two Beauties.

They were on Magnolia street yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock, between Spring and Main streets. I was idly leaning against a telephone post as they passed me. Pretty? I was completely overcome with the sweet essence of titillation. One was dressed in high, black velvet hat with light band around it, white dress, and was carrying gloves in her hand. Her friend wore a black and white checkered skirt and long brown coat. Class? Well, some! Both were laughing, and one of them said, "Oh, did he," and so I just figured of course that there was a "horrid man" in the case.

Discovered! I knew it was bound to be in Palestine somewhere, and sure enough I have located it. Whenever I find a Rexall Drug Store I know I am up against the goods. Just take the route, friend of mine, from the frozen coast of Nova Scotia to the sun-kissed shores of California and find one Rexall Drug Store that is not up-to-date in every particular and you will find something that I have so far failed to find. Bratton is the exclusive Rexall druggist in Palestine, and whether you know it or not, I will just tell you, unless you have a fine and dandy place you can't get the Rexall line for love or money. Investigate and you will find this dope to be correct.

Answers Note.

A note addressed to Sherlock Holmes, Jr., care Daily Herald, and signed Caroline, has reached me. No, Caroline, I am not the son of the original Sherlock Holmes and I do not live in Texas. My home? Well, I am a stranger on earth and my home is in heaven. My age? I am a thousands years old—more or less—and my Manager says I will turn to an old gray mule and never die. The best way to find me is to discover me, for as strange as it may seem, if

I am found I am discovered. I thank you for your interest.

Gee-whillikens and Jimmie's ghost! There is no use talking, Mr. Noah was a great old man. When that fierce rain came some time ago, the old gentleman got busy and built a boat. It was a whopper. He was a star boat builder and I tip my John B. Stetson to him, but it's a pity he can't make a little visit to Palestine. When it comes to stocking an Ark there is a concern here that has Mr. Noah beat a city block and then some. Have you been into The Ark lately? I am speaking about the Palestine Ark. Well, it would do your heart good, and they have a stock that would make Mr. Kress, of 6 and 10 cent fame, ashamed of himself.

No, I have not had the pleasure of meeting your popular Mayor yet, but I am going to give him a call, the time to be pretty soon now, and when I do I shall tell you all about it. I want to get on the good side of the Mayor, anyway, so Mr. Mayor, when I call, please be good, and if you ever get a whack at me, as the old song goes, "Let me down easy, oh, let me down easy."

No, Hortense, you cannot take a flyer at that $25.00 yet. Not yet, but soon, and before many moons come and go I'll make a sound that will make you think an earthquake has hit the city. Whenever I make a promise I generally keep it.

By jove, but this weather brings them out. What? Women, of course, for what do men amount to, anyway? Description? My pen fails me. Worth, Drecoll, Lacroix, Rondeau, Callot, Paquin are all represented. At least they are supposed to be, and in the long run, what's the diff, anyway?

Now this is what I call class. Whenever the future Mrs. Holmes stops just to show her that I am a model little hubby I am going to take her right down to the Bailey Furniture company and buy that quarter sawed golden grain oak dining room set that is now on display in one of their big windows. Pretty? Well, if you don't want to buy it, don't let your wife see it. This concern is there with the goods, take it from me?

Poor Baby.

Did I tell you about it? I was down at the passenger station Thanksgiving day and offended a pretty lady. She pushed a baby carriage up against me and I accidentally sat down in it, and the worst part of it was I sat on a little bundle of squalls. Sorry? Awfully sorry, but the "precious dear" was too fat anyway.

But enough for this time. I expect to have something interesting for you Monday, and so for this time, I am,

Sufficiently, which is enough,
